PHILADELPHIA, January 15.

THE following being the beſt Account of the late engagement with the Indians at Gradenhutten, it is thought proper to publiſh it.

Extract of a Letter from Bethlehem, January 8th, 1756.

"I arrived here laſt night. We met a number of waggons on the road, moving off with the effects of the people of Lehi townſhip. All the women and children are ſent off out of that townſhip, and many of them have taken refuge here; all in great confuſion.

The ſubſtance of the action at Gradenhutten, as we have received it from divers who were there, is this. The lieutenant, who commanded, had 52 men with him at Gnadenhutten, moſtly labourers, who came with axe to look for employment, but without arms. A detachment of the company was down here with the captain, to eſcort up ſome waggons with proviſions; and another party was out to meet the waggons, ſo that among the 52 men they had but 22 guns. The lieutenant, and 4 others, were on the ſcout on the other ſide of the river, a little above the town, which conſiſted of about 30 houſes, and a church. They ſaw tracks of 2 Indians in the ſnow, and following the tracks, came in ſight of a ring of 200 Indians, who were running round to hem them in; ſo that finding no way open to eſcape, either up or down the river, they were obliged to take right through the water. The Indians followed them to the bank, and when they were about half through the river, fired on them very thick, and wounded the lieutenant in the leg, ſo that he fell, and wet his gun; they wounded alſo one Klein in the belly, who, as ſoon as he reached the other ſhore, turn'd and ſhot one of the enemy down, who they ſaw roll down the bank, and fall in the river. The lieutenant (Brown's) coat was ſhot through in many places, as were the coats and hats of the reſt, but no others were wounded. They got into the church where they defended themſelves well for ſome time, and killed ſeveral of the enemy. One fell in the middle of the ſtreet; and another came from behind a houſe, and took the dead man by the leg, and was drawing him off, but was ſhot, and fell on the other. The Indians ſet the town on fire to the windward of the church, which preſently filled it with ſmoke, ſo that they could neither ſee nor breathe. Then, having well charged all their pieces, they ſallied out, and engaged the enemy among the houſes, where they killed ſeveral more of them; and at laſt, their ammunition being ſpent, the lieutenant ordered every man to ſhift for himſelf, and they ſeparated. Klein, who was wounded at firſt deſired the lieutenant not to leave him, and he led him over the ice, on a part of the river that was frozen. The enemy fired very thick at them, and Klein fell, being ſhot thro' the head. The lieutenant took up his gun, and while he was charging it, it was ſhot out of his hand. He then got on a little iſland, where was abundance of drift-wood, and hid himſelf under the ſide of a log with leaves and other traſh, where he lay 'till midnight, and then got off, and eſcaped to the ſettlements. During his concealment, he ſaw the enemy all round looking for him, and heard them ſpeak both Engliſh and Dutch. The town was chiefly burnt down with the church. Hayes came up after the action was over, and ſaw the enemy march off with a horſe load of blankets our men had left in the church, but was too weak to attack them. It is ſuppoſed we had 20 men killed; the reſt got off, but ſeveral are badly wounded."

Philadelphia, Jan 22. We have advice from Carliſle that his honour the governor, the honourable James Hamilton, Eſq; Joſeph Fox, and Richard Peters, Eſqrs. were all well there on the 16th inſt. And from Gnadenhutten, that Benjamin Franklin, Eſq; arrived ſafe there, with about 160 men, on ſunday laſt.

Philadelphia, Jan 29. We have advice from Gnadenhutten, that Benjamin Franklin, Eſq; has finiſhed the fort he begun there; that it is 125 feet long and 50 wide, and called Fort Allen: And that he intends to build two more at about 15 miles diſtance.

New York, Jan 26. Wedneſday laſt his excellency general Shirley ſet out from hence for his government of the Maſſachuſetts Bay.

The monday before, general Johnſon ſet out for his ſeat in the Mohawks country.

Extract of a letter from Albany, dated the 16th Inſt.

"This day a French deſerter was brought here: He ſays, there are 600 regulars, 600 rangers, 600 Canadians, and 50 Indians, at Ticonderoga; that they were all employed in making ſome additional works to the fortifications they had ſome time ago erected at that place; that only 600 men were at Crown Point when he left it, which was but a few days ago; and that they had not heard for ſome time from Montreal."

CHARLES-TOWN, February 26.

Yeſterday Morning a dead Female Child, was found laid in the new Church Yard: A Jury of Inqueſt being ſummoned, they returned their Verdict Wilful Murder by Perſons unknown: And in the Evening a Widow Woman was taken up, and examined before Juſtice Simpſon, on Suſpicion of being the Mother and Murderer of the ſaid Child. The Child is ſaid to be a very fine one, and newly born.

By Capt. Trapier in 24 Days from Barbados, we learn, that Commodore Frankland has lately carried in ſome more French Guineymen there: And he met two large French ſhips going in, that had alſo been taken, one of which mounted 18 Guns.

His Majeſty's ſhip Garland, Capt. Arbuthnot Commander, ſoon after ſhe convoyed the Store-ſhip into Providence, ſailed on a Cruize from thence, againſt the French.

Notwithſtanding the late Report of a War, we can aſſure our Readers, that we remain ſtill in the Dark as to the Situation of Affairs in Europe: But as an Eaſterly Wind is ſet in, and a Veſſel hourly expected from England, we hope ſoon to have our Doubts cleared.

On Saturday laſt the General Aſſembly of this Province adjourned to the 8th Day of March next.
